

Working from the Proactive Space

When a successful transition has been completed to your organisation working from the Proactive Space the toxic behaviours and personalities associated with the Drama Triangle no longer infect your organisation. The ultimate test for the leadership within your organisation is being focussed on developing the culture of respect and appreciation that will continue to provide the environment for the attitudes and behaviours of the Proactive Space to flourish.